

MANOA'S FIGHT ON ROAD CASE IS WITHDRAWN

Appeal to Supreme Court of Brown Injunction Suit Has Been Taken Out

Raymond C. Brown's injunction suit against the city and county, which sought to restrain the latter from further proceeding with certain road work in Honolulu, was taken out of court yesterday afternoon when the petitioner, through Holmes & Olson, his attorneys, withdrew from the supreme court his appeal from the decision of Circuit Judge Stuart, which dissolved the injunction.

Regarding the motive of Mr. Brown from withdrawing his appeal, it was learned today that the record of the case as it developed during the course of the trial in Circuit Judge Stuart's court was such that in all probability the supreme court would regard the question at issue as a moot one, on account of the fact that the city and county had completed certain work on Queen street, which portion of work was of the greatest importance to the petitioner in the case.

Taxpayers Win Victory.

It is understood that the supervisors have put themselves on record to do no more work of the particular character of that done on the completed portion of Queen street, and that they intend to distribute their labor upon what unquestionably will be ordinary repair work. If the supervisors do go into any work of the nature of that which was being done on the portion of Queen street, Mr. Brown may reopen the case, it was learned on good authority today.

Mr. Brown's complaint alleged that certain work which was being done on Honolulu streets was in excess of maintenance and repairs, and therefore in violation of a statute defining work of this nature. The city and county held that the work was mere maintenance and repairs, and not actual reconstruction. Judge Stuart found for the city and county.

REPUBLICANS IN BAY STATE WIN

500,000 votes. Mrs. Balch based her estimate on the vote at hand, which is 60 per cent of the whole.

Mr. Balch was the chief issue in the Pennsylvania election and as in New York and Massachusetts has been rejected by a heavy vote.

Prohibition was the chief issue up in Ohio. There has been a vigorous contest there between the "wets" and "drys" and a heavy vote was cast yesterday as a result. The "wets" appear to have won the victory, however, with a majority of 50,000.

The Democrats appear to have elected their candidate for governor in Kentucky. A. O. Stanley, the candidate, has a majority of 5000, according to the available returns.

The election in Mississippi amounts practically to confirmation of the Democratic primary vote, in which Theodore G. Bilbo was nominated for governor, and Lee M. Russell for lieutenant governor, as the state is overwhelmingly Democratic.

APPLICATIONS FROM 60 FOR EXAMINATIONS UNDER SEAMEN'S LAW

With the Seamen's Act going into effect tomorrow, 60 applications have been made to date at the office of William Howe, federal inspector of hulls, and Thomas J. Heene, local inspector of boilers, by sailors desiring to take the examination for able seamen's certificates, as required by the new law.

Down to noon today no further word had been received from Washington relative to the naming of a definite date on which the examination may be given, or issuing of any further information concerning any possible extension of time in which local shipowners could conform with the act's requirements in the way of additional equipment or appliances.

LAU WAH IS INDICTED ON OPIUM CHARGE; WAS NABBED DURING RAID

The federal grand jury today returned an indictment against Lau Wah, U. S. district court messenger, charging him with having had opium in his possession. Upon motion of District Attorney Jeff McCann, Lau Wah was released on his own recognizance shortly after he had been taken into custody by the marshal. He probably will be arraigned tomorrow. Lau Wah was arrested several weeks ago by Marshal J. J. Smiddy in an alleged opium den near the Asahi theater. A small horn of opium was taken from him.

Aside from the one returned against Lau Wah, six indictments were returned by the grand jury. Bench warrants for the arrest of the defendants were to be issued this afternoon.

DISPLAY BOOKS AS SUGGESTIONS FOR CHRISTMAS

Careful Selections Made as to What Santa Claus Shall Bring Little Tots

What books shall Santa Claus bring for the children? In an attempt to answer this question right for father, mother, sister, brother, uncle, aunt, and grandparent, the children's librarian at the city library is holding this week the annual exhibit of children's books, the "Christmas exhibit" as it is called.

Five separate tables are set in the exhibition room, and each table represents a different variety. On the first table are placed all of the classics that children love so well, such as "Treasure Island," "Kidnapped," "Riley's poems," "Field's poems," and all of the other old favorites. This table has high priced books only, books which are decorated in wonderful colors, and bound with the best class of bindings.

Next to the first table is another table covered with the same books as No. 1, but in inexpensive bindings. Though inexpensive, these books have splendid paper and beautiful decorations.

Then on table No. 3 come the little children's books, with all of the old stories that every person knows so well, "Little Red Riding Hood" and "The Three Bears." One feature of this table is a set of books which the librarians have rebound, taking the old worn out books, and making them new with different covers. Persons who care to learn this art will be taught free of charge at table No. 3.

Books for Story Tellers. No. 4 is the table of guide books for parents and teachers, holding a large number of interesting books dealing with the subject of story reading and story telling in all of its phases, with large numbers of books of stories to tell to children.

Lastly comes the fifth table, filled with books for the larger boys and girls, who love excitement or adventure but need stories with the proper amount of restraint placed upon this part of the story. In the place of "Nick Carter," "Diamond Dick" and others, there are instead good solid stories by Walter Camp, Christy Mathewson, and Ralph Barbour. Well known authors also write the books for girls.

Much time has been spent by the librarians in the selection of these books, and they have been chosen with a view to getting interesting stories and at the same time stories which are wholesome, and which will not ruin the child's reading appetite in later years.

Practically all of the books on exhibition may be obtained at the library, just as other books are obtained, but the primary reason for the exhibit is to help persons who are pondering over the question of what books to buy. Plans made by the librarians for having the books on sale in the city have been met by nearly all of the book stores, and persons who wish to buy copies will find them on sale locally. The exhibit will last only during this week. All persons who have an interest in books are invited.

CONSIDER GUTHRIE'S SILENCE AS FAVORING MONARCHY FOR CHINA

(Special Cable to Hawaii Shipco.)
TOKIO, Nov. 3.—George W. Guthrie, United States ambassador to Japan, was questioned yesterday by one of Japan's statesmen regarding the changing of the government of China. Ambassador Guthrie would make no statement. The ambassadors of France, England and Russia having announced that they would be opposed to Yuan Shih-Kai's establishing a monarchy, Guthrie's silence is looked upon here as a surety that the United States favors the restoration of the monarchy.

PLAN CLINIC AT ARMY HOSPITALS FOR PHYSICIANS

Physicians and surgeons from civilian life, the army and navy and the United States public health service will gather in the bungalow, capitol grounds, at 2:30 o'clock next Saturday afternoon to attend the initial session of the 24th annual meeting of the Medical Society of Hawaii. The meeting will last until November 8, inclusive.

Aside from three business sessions, which will close with the election of officers for the coming year, there will be several entertainment features. The first of these will be a picnic to be held at the beach home of Dr. A. G. Hodgins next Sunday, beginning at 11 o'clock in the morning. Next Monday night, beginning at 8 o'clock, the annual banquet will be held at the Country Club.

On Sunday morning a clinic will be held at the department hospital at Fort Shafter, beginning at 9 o'clock. In point of attendance and interest, it is predicted that the 24th annual meeting will be the most successful gathering in the history of the society.

PILES UP CHEFA CASES IN COURT

Twenty-seven are Now Set for Hearing on Tuesday Morning of Next Week

Ten more chefa cases continued by Judge Monsarrat this morning to November 9 bring the total number of charges of "having tickets in possession" which are set for that day to 27. Whether or not the accused in these cases are punished depends on the decision of Judge Monsarrat as to the criminality of having a ticket in possession, when it is not shown what bank the ticket is on and what time the drawing takes place.

Some of the chefa cases have been pending five months, and many of them are several months old. Failure to secure convictions in these cases is rapidly causing chefa to spread, the players regarding arrest, and the subsequent postponement of the case, as a very good joke.

Judge Monsarrat has been awaiting decision in an appealed case, but the case did not get to the supreme court and he is now studying the question himself and will make decision Tuesday.

"We will go right ahead arresting as many chefa players as we can," Chief of Detectives McDuffie said today. "Our instructions are to arrest them, and we will pile up all the cases we can. But if it is decided that we must prove the name of the bank and the time of drawing in each case of 'having tickets in possession'—well, that's as good as licensing chefa. We can never prove what bank or what time a ticket is for. They do not write it on the tickets."

ARMY NOTES

Orders have been received at headquarters countermanding a previous order to send all general personnel here to San Francisco on the Logan, as there is not room for them. The prisoners will be held until a transport comes through which can accommodate them.

Maj. Arthur S. Conklin, who had his collar-bone and one rib broken in an automobile accident nearly two weeks ago, is again on duty at headquarters, although carrying his arm in a sling.

"In half a century of military life, 47 years of it spent in actual service, I have never been in a community where officers and soldiers were treated more cordially and dealt with more fairly than here. President Farrington, when he closed, said that it was fitting that at a farewell to Gen. Carter, Mr. Grant should be one of the honored guests. "Gen. Carter soon retires after 47 years' service," Mr. Farrington said, "which began when his commission was signed by Gen. U. S. Grant."

Gen. Carter's announcement that 12,000 more regulars are to be brought to Oahu, will give the island about 22,000 troops, for a fortnight ago he announced that the troops now here numbered a trifle more than 9500 men.

OUTDOOR CIRCLE FESTIVAL PLANS TAKING FORM NOW

The ladies of the Outdoor Circle are arranging the program for the children's carnival on November 13, which will be held in the spacious grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Atherton's residence at King and Alapai streets. The full list of committees has not yet been announced, as each day brings up some new feature for Kiddies' Day. Among the interesting features will be the children's pageant of which Mrs. James D. Dougherty and Mrs. Arthur Wall are in charge.

The children will gather at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and from that time until 6 o'clock, the members of the Outdoor Circle will entertain them with one feature after another. There will be a fish pond, a Joy Zone, and numerous side shows where the youngsters may visit. Many of the girls will represent flowers in the pageant while the boys will impersonate animals. Many unique ideas are promised for the occasion.
